—All WingMakers quotes and materials referenced in this article may be found here

To introduce this article I will plainly say that in order to properly understand the WingMakers story the reader should focus on integrating the original WingMakers website as saved on the Internet Archive Wayback Machine from 1999 - 2000. The original website was never updated, so all saves in this time period contain the same information.

The website was hijacked by the labyrinth group between November 10th, 2000 and March 1st, 2001. As recorded on the IAWM, November 10th is the last save of the original website and March 1st in the first save of the labyrinth group's version of the website.

All information released on the website post-hijacking (or simply post 2000 via IAWM) is disinformation. There are some nuggets of truth, but the labyrinth group has only done this as an energetic lure to pull public attention into their information warfare. The labyrinth group have advanced AI-coordinated 5GW (Fifth Generation Warfare) to strategically muddy the truth of the WingMakers story being genuine and it is not necessary at all or worth getting involved in discerning any post-2000 released information.

When Dr. Anderson defected from the labyrinth group to disclose the WingMakers materials he stated that the labyrinth group is the most powerful organization on the planet. He was not exaggerating when he said this. The reason why I focus on the Italian black nobility being the head of the cabal in my article 'Cabal Silent Genocide' is because the Scalar Matrix and global gangstalking network is indeed tied to the black quantum computer network at the vatican, and they also believe themselves to be the head of the cabal. In reality the labyrinth group are their puppet masters. For reference, The Portal 2012 blog <https://2012portal.blogspot.com/> has also disclosed other black project groups and negative aliens operating behind the Italian black nobility, namely the chimera-infiltrated DARPA. Thankfully the chimera group was defeated in 2023 and is no longer a threat.

The labyrinth group, however, is still a threat. They are the main threat to this world because they are the pinnacle source of black tech infiltration for a negative alien group: the corteum. As you may read in the interviews 1 and 2 of the WingMakers material, the corteum are considered a part of the labyrinth group, roughly 200 members to their 118 human counterpart. Ismael Perez <https://www.ourcosmicorigin.com/> has also discussed the WingMakers materials and the corteum being a negative group.

Were this gets confusing is that Dr. Anderson portrays the labyrinth group and corteum as positive in the interviews, when in fact the labyrinth group and corteum are negative. This is conflicting information, but Dr. Anderson needed to inversely state this truth as information strategy to successfully disclose the WingMakers material. It would have been distracting for him to admit he defected from a negative organization. Also, the labyrinth group was remote viewing and tracking him after his defection, and would have likely stopped him and the website from being published has he released too much information.

When Dr. Anderson discusses the threat of a predator, alien, human-android race that is professed to infiltrate this world, he is actually discussing the threat of the corteum. When he discusses the creation of BST to thwart this threat, he is actually disclosing the pinnacle technology they were trying to create to try to assist this threat.

The evidence of corteum infiltration and malevolence was cleverly and indirectly disclosed by Dr. Anderson, as you can see by comparing these two quotes:

"The messages of prophecies that they made had several consistent strands or themes that were to occur in the early 21st century around the year 2011. Chief among these was the infiltration of the major governments of the world, including the United Nations by an alien race. This alien race was a predator race with extremely advanced technologies that enabled them to integrate with the human species. That is to say, they could pose as humanoids, but they would truly be a blend of human and android."

"According to Dr. Anderson, the corteum is benevolent and had no ulterior motives to take over the earth and rule in dictatorship. In fact they were much more interested in establishing diplomatic ties to the various world governments through the United Nations at the appropriate time; which was considered to be shortly after the year 2011. The existence of the corteum was kept from the NSA and even most ACIO personnel were unaware of their existence (though I don't know how this was accomplished)."

—Anne, Anne's Journal Findings

As I stated, Dr. Anderson needed to very strategically present the information regarding the alien threat inversely to not implicate the labyrinth group or himself directly. He was very deliberate and precise when he mentions both the year 2011 and the United Nations, so that the evidence that the corteum is this alien race can be read through the lines.

BST (Blank Slate Technology) is a technology that is unnatural and never meant to be constructed. It is an attempted, synthetic replication of the evolved human beings natural 7th sense of precise, interactive space-time travel.

The labyrinth group are transhumans and transhumanists. You can clearly see this by how Dr. Anderson always refers to a seeming psychic ability as a "technology". It is because the labyrinth group have all bio-synthetically hybridized their bodies with black technology from the corteum and black synthetic genetic engineering. None of the 'psychic' abilities they possess, such as remote viewing or telepathy, are actual natural psychic abilities that the human can earn and develop through spiritual and genetic transformation and practice, but rather they are an artificial replication of these abilities. They were trying to create BST as an external technology that they could then put in their bodies, which is unnatural and blasphemy, rather than developing precise, interactive space-time travel as a natural psychic ability through spiritual and genetic transformation that the WingMakers explain as the 7th sense.

"The labyrinth group has never seriously considered the human element of BST and how it is integral to the technology itself."

"The time capsules we left behind provide technology, art, and philosophy, indeed, an entire language that will, in time, develop two additional senses of the human instrument. The genetic composition of the human species was conceived to have 7 senses. You have, in recent times, begun to refer to the 6th sense or the sense of intuition. There is a 7th and most powerful sense that is linked to time-travel, which is linked to space travel."

—the WingMakers, Project Overview memo

The WingMakers have encoded energetically behind their time capsules the key to unlock this 7th sense. They are inviting humanity to interact with these materials as a "bridge from the 3-dimensional 5 sensory domain to the multidimensional 7-sensory domain" (—Dr. Anderson relaying the WingMakers, Interview 1).

"This frequency of the tone-vibration of equality is only heard with the seventh sense by the entity who is enveloped in a human instrument. The seventh sense can be developed by the time capsules and will lead certain entities to their innermost or core expression. The core expression is what activates the seventh sense. Thus, before one can hear the tone-vibration of equality, they must gain access to their core expression. There is encoded in each of the time capsules a system of languages that can lead the individual to their core expression. It is hidden because it is so powerful. And we will only lead the worthy to this power."

—the WingMakers, Chamber 2 Philosophy: The Shifting Models of Existence

BST is a technology that is unnatural and never meant to be constructed. It is an attempted synthetic replication of the evolved human beings natural 7th sense of space-time travel. It is actually a bio-synthetic hybridization genetic engineering experiment, trying to create a synthetic human through black technology and black genetic engineering. Believe it or not—it is an attempt to create the "antichrist".

BST, "the antichrist", or "the (b)ea(s)(t)" is an attempt by the cabal to incarnate "satan", and an attempt to give him an artificial 7th sense to try to challenge the WingMakers and try to kill God. This is disclosed in Pokemon: Mewtwo Strikes Back 1999. This film is very accurate in its telling of the situation and story. Mewtwo is BST or "the antichrist". The scientists in the beginning of the film who synthetically genetically engineered Mewtwo are the labyrinth group. Giovanni, who payed the scientists to create Mewtwo, is 'Pepe' Orsini, the "grey pope", the supposed head of the Italian black nobility and cabal.

The attempted creation of BST was born in 1998. He is the BST attempt at bringing forth the "antichrist", and the elder brother of the year 2000 born "antichrist" mentioned in my article 'Cabal Silent Genocide'. They are both Orsini children. As multipersonality entities that have infiltrated the Italian black nobility for the labyrinth group, Pepe Orsini is Fifteen and the year 2000 born "antichrist" is Mahunahi.

"...alien race is portrayed as the antichrist; as if the alien race was personified in the form of Lucifer."

The labyrinth group and Italian black nobility were trying to remote control BST to kill God. This is a very retarded idea because if you were able to kill God, reality would cease to exist. All of this is very unacceptable behavior. Thankfully, it did not work. God cannot be killed, God is alive and well. The 7th sense is not meant to be attempted to be replicated, nor is any psychic ability.

Trying to create BST is unwise because it is an attempt to replicate a powerful ability artificially without having attained the spiritual maturity to earn and responsibly wield such an ability. The corteum and labyrinth wanted to attain BST so that they can try to combat God and the WingMakers in power. The labyrinth group knows they are not the precursor organization to the WingMakers. They only say this as attempted metacommunicative taunting toward the WingMakers as they try to artificially replicate the 7th sense through BST for the corteum and themselves. Again, Dr. Anderson only says this as defensive information strategy needing to inversely portray the labyrinth group as positive.

The corteum lack a soul and creative ability, and needed to use a human—who has a soul and creative ability gifted by God—to assist them in trying to artificially replicate the 7th sense, a very powerful ability which they lack.

"One of the things that the corteum have in abundance is logical intelligence. They are very adept in terms of scientific inquiry and logical reasoning. By their own admission, where they lack ability is with the creative visionary aspect of discovery. This is precisely where Fifteen exels..."

The WingMakers used very deliberate terminology when speaking to Dr. Anderson about why they chose him to be their spokesperson rather than Fifteen; the word "pawn" is not used lightly, otherwise they would have simply stated that Fifteen would be unwilling or unable because he was working with the corteum.

"They visited me a total of three times—always in my home at night—and told me that I had been selected to be their liaison or spokesperson. Of course I asked them why me and not Fifteen, and they said that Fifteen was unable to speak for them because he was already the pawn of the corteum."

Fifteen is indeed the pawn of the corteum. Fifteen—as you may read in the interview—is the leader of the labyrinth group and ACIO. He joined the ACIO in 1956 and met the corteum in 1958. He then sold out to the corteum, allowing them to infiltrate the ACIO in exchange for power. After taking their intelligence boosting technology, he politically maneuvered a coup to take control of the ACIO for himself under corteum guidance and was "infused with a massive vision of how to create BST (—Dr. Anderson, Interview 1).

"Since you have the tape recorder on now, let me repeat myself. The corteum technology was the single most influential element in helping Fifteen become the Executive Director of both the ACIO and labyrinth group. Granted, he had a brilliant mind before he underwent the corteum intelligence enhancement process, but for some reason, the technology seemed to enhance his intelligence more than anyone else... by a significant degree."

Fifteen's higher intelligence boosting relative to other labyrinth group personnel is a deliberate ploy by the corteum to keep their manipulatable prime pawn in charge of the ACIO and labyrinth group so that they remain in control as his puppet masters.

Consenting to an intelligence boost from negative aliens is very dangerous, and the equivalent to selling your soul. Humans who consent to this fall into a controlled trap of delusion: their human ego's are now strategically flattered in grandiosity due to an advance in information processing power and memory while their reality perception becomes completely controlled to and limited by the will of the negative aliens who own the technology. The human has fallen into a trap of temptation and now a mind-controlled slave puppeted by foreign, alien intelligence.

Humans who consent to this are traitors to mankind because they are consenting to negative alien infiltration into our world. Generally, negative aliens are unable to infiltrate worlds by overt takeover because thankfully there are usually more advanced benevolent ET races such as the WingMakers who watch over and defend evolving worlds. However, negative aliens are able to tempt inhabitants of worlds to consentingly sell out to them in exchange for intelligence boosting and black technology. The intelligence boosting provides a backdoor into the human will and psyche for the negative aliens to control remotely. The various black technologies "gifted" to the human is then used by the human for power and then sold for wealth. This is all a conquer-strategy for negative aliens infiltrating lesser evolved worlds: they now have a team of consenting, mind-controlled humans selling a trickle-down of their black technology of various dilutes to strategically infiltrate the human society, all of which has backdoors to a master key held by the negative aliens themselves.

This is exactly what the labyrinth group has done by consenting to using corteum intelligence boosting technology and advancing the corteum TTP (Technology Transfer Program). The corteum TTP is currently behind all black technology on this planet, having provided most of it and having hijacked all of the other cabal's previous black tech.

This infiltration has actually happened to 70% of the US and roughly 40% of the world population by their consent to use wearables, as you can read in my article "Cabal Silent Genocide". All wearables and even grey hat "looking glass" are all diluted corteum TTP black technology with backdoors leading to corteum master key control.

2001 www.wingmakers.com Hijacking and Takeover

The labyrinth group has been operating in an 'invisible' pocket reality. The corteum advanced black technology they possess has given them operating invisibility, and apex power and wealth within the world society.

There was a reason why the WingMakers allowed for the Ancient Arrow site to be found by the labyrinth group. The labyrinth group possessed the Sumerian linguistic know-how to be able to Mahually translate the WingMakers material. It was a planned operation of the WingMakers to show an infiltration and defection of truth and light from the secrecy of the cabal into the public domain. It is funny because the WingMakers intentionally state in their introduction that their time capsules will be disclosed to the public through the Internet, as you can read in the 'Project Overview' memo:

"Through their time travel technology they have planted time capsules from their future time, which they hope will provide a sense of connection to our future selves and an understanding of human destiny. They seem to be particularly interested in helping present-day humans build a global culture.

"One of their more outlandish claims is that they essentially seeded the concept of the Internet for the purpose of developing this global culture. They believe the Internet will somehow become the platform upon which their time capsules will be fully launched into the mainstream of the world's citizens."

The WingMakers did indeed seed the idea for the creation of the Internet for this world through the subconscious of earth humanity. Although the labyrinth group memo author Jeremy Sauthers was unaware at the time he was writing it, the WingMakers were hinting at their planned defection of Dr. Anderson disclosing the WingMakers materials to Anne, which would eventually reach the public through the originally published www.wingmakers.com in December 1998. Meta huh? The WingMakers are time-travelers who instigated the revelation of their materials into the public domain via Dr. Anderson's defection, and are currently watching over this entire process.

"I was apparently selected to be their spokesperson in this time, and not only help translate their text, paintings, and symbol pictures, but also help in bringing these things to the public's attention. In other words, I don't think the WingMakers desired the contents of their time capsules to be held in the secret repository deep within the bowels of the labyrinth group."

If the labyrinth group were not mind-controlled by the corteum, they would clearly understand that all WingMakers materials are a gift of cultural expression from the WingMakers meant to be freely and fully disclosed to humanity in the public domain untampered. As Dr. Anderson states:

"My reason for seeking out a journalist like you and sharing this knowledge is that I don't want the WingMakers' time capsules to be locked away from humanity. I think its contents should be shared. I think that was their purpose."

—Interview 1

Unfortunately the labyrinth group are mind-controlled. They have attempted to sabotage this disclosure from its very inception. When Dr. Anderson defected, he was on the run. Although he plays it cool in the interviews, Dr. Anderson had just defected from the cabal, which was an intense situation. He was being harassed by the labyrinth group through remote viewing and synthetic telepathy not to reveal too much information.

This is why he withheld information from Anne, and why he gave Anne information to withhold herself. This is why only 2 photos of the artifacts were released, rather than all 23, and neither of the scientific papers were released. Dr. Anderson had within his possession photos of all 23 artifacts and the 2 scientific papers because 2 full chambers had been successfully translated at the time of his defection.

This was information strategy against the labyrinth group and corteum, who were very upset with their organization being revealed and these materials being released. As Anne states in the 'Project Briefing and Background':

"I'm in possession of certain documents that I'll withhold from the WingMakers' web site, but if anything were to happen to me I've arranged to have these documents shared with major media companies whom I know. These are my only safeguards in presenting these materials."

After publishing www.wingmakers.com in December of 1998, Anne was on the run from the ACIO and labyrinth group:

"Dr. Anderson had warned me that the ACIO has an advanced version of a technology based on what he called remote viewing. As I understand it, remote viewing is the ability to ascertain the whereabouts of people through some sort of 'psychic insight' by someone trained in this technology. I know this sounds far-fetched, but Dr. Anderson was insistent that they had this capability and that it was one of their most feared technologies by those within the ACIO. In effect, it was known to keep their personnel loyal. Unfortunately, this will force me to stay underground and remain very mobile over the next several months, so don't expect too much to change on the web site."

—Anne, Project Briefing and Background

Anne was unfortunately never able to update the website with new information. She was cornered by labyrinth group sometime before March 1st, 2001. She then sold out and handed over the website. Sometime between November 10th, 2000 and March 1st, 2001—as recorded on the IAWM—the labyrinth group began with their version of the website.

Since the website takeover to present day, the labyrinth group has been attempting to wage an information war against the validity of the original WingMakers disclosure and narrative, as portrayed on the original website from December 1998 to the website takeover. Through their advanced technology analysis of the defection and situation, they realized that they would be unable to erase this truth from the mass collective consciousness of humanity by simply deleting the website, as people had already saved the information and the website has been recorded online, notably on the IAWM. Their only option was to try to slow down the revelation through information warfare and confusion, trying to spin the narrative. This is the same tactic the dark brotherhood had attempted against the narrative of Jesus Christ, attempting to eliminate gnostic Christianity through the council of nicea, inquisition, jesuit order, attempted elimination of Catharism and Swedenborgism, etc., in favor of centralized Catholicism as the jesuit order worships "satan" behind closed doors in Rome.

The labyrinth group have been trying to spin the narrative in all information released on www.wingmakers.com since the hijacking. Their main objective is to try to convince the public that this story is fiction. They are being very careful in how they try to muddy the waters through information warfare because they have "looking glass" black technology, analyzing how their words will ripple through and be scrutinized by the collective consciousness of the public. They will never outright say that the entire story is fiction, as this would be an ultimately ineffective and implicating contradiction against the foundational narrative. Instead, they will always say that the story is a mix of fact and fiction, and be intentionally and generally vague. They are lying and trying to falsely suggest that the entire disclosure was fabricated by 'James Mahu' as a spiritual teaching mythos.

The labyrinth group subtly introduce conflicting details everywhere against the original, coherent narrative, to try to cause confusion and doubt in the validity of the story. They intentionally changed the names Dr. Anderson and Anne to Dr. Neruda and Sarah as a 5GW tactic to dissociate attention from the original narrative. They have introduced false concepts such as 'I AM WE ARE' and 'heart virtues' as disinformation. They introduced the 'Animus' as disinformation to distract from the subtle disclosure that the 'alien race' is in fact the corteum themselves. They have erased correct information in the original interviews and inserted deceptive information. The most implicating information erasure the labyrinth group have committed is concerning Dr. Anderson expressing his telepathic and physical interaction with the WingMakers, because Dr. Anderson speaking about this is genuine and compelling, and they do not want readers to find the original narrative genuine and compelling.

The labyrinth group and corteum are behind the current www.wingmakers.com, right now. They were forced to stretch out of the pocket reality in order to attempt to snuff out their own exposure via the original www.wingmakers.com published 1998. Even though they are adept at information warfare, they are now linkable and trackable to the public domain, reducing their invisibility.

They are currently disrespectfully taunting the human collective, operating through this website, attempting to snuff out the disclosure of the WingMakers as they try to sell this world away to the corteum via black tech infiltration. 'James Mahu' was even so bold as to openly disclose his identity as Mahunahi, the leader of the corteum group.

"Question 9: Who/what are you James? Where do you get your information from?

"In my dominant reality I am known as Mahi Nahi..."

—'James Mahu', James: Questions and Answers, IAWM www.wingmakers.com 2003

"The leader of the corteum mission to earth is called—in English—Mahunahi."

—Dr. Anderson, Interview 2

Dr. Anderson speaking about the corteum:

"They speak perfect English or French, Italian, Spanish, or most any other language for that matter."

—Interview 2

"...alien race is portrayed as the antichrist; as if the alien race was personified in the form of Lucifer."

—Dr. Anderson, Interview 1

He has tauntingly revealed his true identity because he believes earth humans are too stupid to figure any of this out. Negative aliens view earth humanity disrespectfully as a manipulatable and undeveloped species.

Reality of the Situation

What we have now is an interesting situation. The truth revealed on the original www.wingmakers.com website published in 1998 is a revelation too powerful to ultimately be erased. This is why the labyrinth group has opted to engage in information warfare against the original narrative, rather than to just delete the website. All they are able to do is try to slow this revelation spreading: it is slipping through their fingers.

We have on this planet now 7 time capsule exhibits, proof that a time-shifted civilization has visited and left its calling card. We have the group hiding the remainder of this information, directly behind the website in which this revelation was originally disclosed. Rather than continuing in the ultimately ineffective endeavor of trying to confuse the original narrative, the labyrinth group could, hypothetically, erase all information they have released since the website hijacking and simply disclose all remaining time capsule exhibit information untampered in the same format it had originally been presented on the original www.wingmakers.com published in December, 1998.

The WingMakers allowing their time capsules to be found when they did and Dr. Anderson's defection were planned operations of the WingMakers. Perhaps the labyrinth group now operating behind the current www.wingmakers.com is also a planned operation by the WingMakers. Perhaps it is for the labyrinth group to realize it is the WingMakers' desire for their time capsule's to be fully disclosed untampered into the public domain of humanity—an opportunity for them to align with this desire, free themselves from corteum mind-control like Dr. Anderson, and release this information themselves.

The WingMakers' time capsules have already been partially launched into the mainstream of the world's citizens through the Internet on the original www.wingmakers.com published in December 1998. Because the WingMakers are precise, interactive space-time travelers, when they say "the Internet will become the platform upon which their time capsules will be fully launched into the mainstream of the world's citizens, I know they are telling the truth and accurately describing what is to come to pass. It is only a matter of if the labyrinth group will see the reality of the situation and do this themselves. The information released from the original website is enough to prevent the NWO and uplift the planet, but the WingMakers may orchestrate another planned operation for the rest of the materials to be released untampered. Ultimately the 7 time capsules will be fully disclosed into the mainstream—it is inevitable.

Cabal Silent Genocide

All that I discuss in my article 'Cabal Silent Genocide' is true. This article now discloses an additional, hidden layer of deception. The Scalar Matrix and global gangstalking network is centralized to the jesuit order and Italian black nobility, but the labyrinth group are their hidden puppet masters. All black technology, wearables, etc. that the gangstalking network possess is trickle down from the corteum TTP. All cabal black quantum computing is overtaken by corteum TTP. All grey hat "looking glass" technology is corteum TTP. All of this technology has backdoors to a master key held by the corteum and labyrinth group. They are the apex of the cabal, trying to collapse the world society into a New World Order technodystopia under corteum rule.

WingMakers

The WingMakers are more powerful than the corteum and labyrinth group. The WingMakers have purposely displayed their 7th sense to the labyrinth group, precisely before the labyrinth group tried to complete BST, to show humanity the WingMakers have the situation under control, and that the WingMakers knew what the corteum were up to. The release and light of the original WingMakers materials has successfully assisted the lightworkers of this planet to prevent the NWO, and bring about the Golden Age.

The WingMakers' genuine time capsules are on the original www.wingmakers.com saved on the IAWM January 25th, 1999. The WingMakers are inviting humanity to interact with their time capsule cultural expression of art, philosophy, and science and develop the 7th sense:

"It is the drama of life—as it unfolds in human culture—which reflects inwardly upon the cosmological multiverse. Human culture deeply affects the spirit world, and as your Einstein predicted, ripples touch the entire cosmos. It imprints upon the world of spirit a vital energy. An energy of love, passion, involvement, creativity, and perhaps most important, a sense of personal expression and bold individuality. This energy is precisely what balances the energy that drives a species to seek oneness with tis Creator.

"The energy of the multiverse is like a giant funnel that delivers a species into the Mind of God, the only vessel of Prime Creator, who is otherwise unclothed and invisible. This funnel creates an overbearing drive for oneness and re-connection with the Mind of God in a developing species. In this drive for oneness beings can forget their individuality. Their unique life experience could be forsaken for oneness if not for the experience of the physical, mental, and emotional involvement in building a separate, species-based culture.

"WingMakers have strategically placed time capsules upon earth that, when discovered, will facilitate the development of a global culture that represents humankind and earth, rather than a specific geography, race, or philosophy. In parallel with this goal of culture building, is the goal to introduce new paradigms of existence. In the case of our first time capsule, it will introduce indisputable evidence that a time-shifted civilization visited earth and left its calling card. It will also—because it is the first one to be discovered in contemporary times—lead to the discovery of additional time capsules placed elsewhere on the planet by the WingMakers.

"These time capsules will eventually act as a communication bridge between contemporary humans and their future selves. The WingMakers will act as the responsible elder brother who returns to help the next two generations of human build a global culture that prepares the human species to take its next evolutionary leap. This new leap will include the design and development of a whole new species based on the human genotype and soul.

"The underlying purpose of existence is to expand and diversify life forms in order to enable Prime Creator its fullest expression and perception of life. The human species is but one of a countless number of sentient life forms that unerringly grow and expand in diversity throughout the cosmos. It is but an atom in the Body of the Collective God. Within its consciousness, humankind is limited by its perception of the universe of wholeness by its over-reliance on the five senses. These senses are powerful forces that focus the human instrument on a separate reality much like a diver's mask can focus the diver on the underwater world.

"The time capsules we have left behind provide technology, art, and philosophy, indeed, an entire language that will, in time, develop two additional senses of the human instrument. The genetic composition of the human species was conceived to have 7 senses. You have, in recent times, begun to refer to the 6th sense or the sense of intuition. There is a 7th and most powerful sense, and it is the sense that is linked to time-travel, which is linked to space travel.

"However, before these two additional senses of the human instrument can be fully activated, there must be a global culture representing a unified and full integrated earth. Our mission is to develop the species' genetic capabilities to include these two new senses while simultaneously ensuring that a global culture is developed that unifies the human species under one leadership, one culture, and one pre-eminent philosophy.

"If this sounds like an improbable goal, we can assure you of its success because we live in a time when it is so. And if you need further proof of our mission, simply learn our language and you will have your proofŠ"
